Scott Perry a. I think you can be a building block on that, because you're going beyond issuance and talking about how governance plays a role in these things b. Governance Architecture Task Force came up with Intro to Governance Development Kit which led to the start of the Museum Pass Task Force
1 5 m ins	Update from Museum /Attraction Pass Task Force	T BD	1. Shared Intro to Governance Development Kit 2. Changing the name of the task force to Attraction Pass because it's more generic & inline with the industry lingo 3. Heard from industry players and some of the challenges they are facing 4. SharedJohn Phillips deck presented yesterday at GATF Presentation Towards a mental model for governance - Google Slides
1 5 m ins	Debrief from IIW	TBD	1. Held Governance & Accountability sessions getting better traction than four years ago 2. Takea away since last time attending before pandemic: a. Last time was everyone still deciding on the technology b. I think we're all agreed on, you know. 4 years ago I went to a session with Sam Smith, just introducing KERI, and now we had sessions on Kerry for durmines, which was fun, Kerry 101, 201 and 301. c. Sam also had 3 session and discussed how do you do security, confidentiality, and privacy in transactions d. A lot of discussion about trust registry and how we could use DNS, the existing infrastructure, and that was also advanced at today's Trust Registry Task Force. I think that's starting to take hold because you know it doesn't it won't require much change in in the backbone of the Internet to support. So I think that there's a groundswell of interest around trying to kind of move forward with that Kyle Robinson 1. There was a lot more representation from governments 2. More of a focus on the use cases and user experience. and not so much the battles of the Protocols 3. Things seem to have like moved up a layer in the Trust over IP stack Carly Huitema 1. Focus more on use cases & what problem are you trying to solve 2. More discussions on how to communicate your idea Savita Farooqui 1. Presented the work done on the Registry Trust infrastructure that we've been working on with UNDP and World Health Organization ly, the project began with Covid credential but moved to a registry of registries 2. Content authenticity in the world of AI. With Charl Gpt we are getting some information when we ready, but authenticity of the source data that is fed to the AI. And what AI is generating the authenticity in that! How can we establish trust over IP when it comes to content and data.] Judith Fleenor 1. Wenjing Chu presented on AI 2. Timothy Ruff spoke on organizational identity and how it's probably a bigger business model in some ways than individual identity, because if once an organization has an an ident
