Notes

1. Welcome and Linux Foundation antitrust policy
2. New Template Walk Through

Discussion

- What to do about user journeys (e.g., transfers) - how much content to put into background?
  - What to do about families? Caregivers? Travelers with
- Air travel vs. international travel
  - The focus is really on cross-border requirements (whether it's land, air, or sea); do we narrow into air travel?
  - Broadly speaking, for cross-border travel
  - Connections and transit time (ICTS x BLOK)
- If the system goes down, we need to address this (e.g., carry a paper back-up)
- If you have to have a different pass for land travel

Two types of verification: digital version of your certificate (real basic); doesn't give you anything more than paper; get QR code (assume that QR code only generated against rules; tests needed etc.)

- All of this happens in the background before getting on plane
- Split in data sources (public vs. private); an airline has verified something on your departure (control authority on the other end will do it again; no link between an airline)

Assumptions around identity binding

- Excelsior pass presented with ID (verified with ID)
- Could decide to use a biometric (if available)
- UK potentially linking COVID data to passport? Not clear whether they're accepting verified certificates or still manually want to check this
- Should recommend best practices

New questions to discuss:

- Guardianship and families and assisted travelers
- Passes vs. credentials
- International vs. other types of travel
- Non-functional requirements

5. Wrap up

- Next steps
